

Stewardship

Kingdom Economics Principles

At a Glance

BIG IDEA

In the Kingdom of God, wealth is not measured by money but by value creation and management. By transforming our mindset and aligning with kingdom principles, we can unlock the power to generate wealth and manage resources wisely. Biblical figures like Joseph and Solomon exemplify how wisdom and stewardship lead to prosperity.

PRIMARY PASSAGES

Matthew 6:33

Deuteronomy 8:18

Proverbs 22:7

Romans 12:2

1 Corinthians 14:33

Key Takeaways

- Money is a tool, not true wealth.
- Value creation attracts provision in the Kingdom.
- God provides the ability to generate wealth, not wealth itself.
- Debt can compromise your dominion and freedom.
- Effective management is essential for sustaining abundance.

Introduction

The Kingdom of God operates on principles that differ from worldly economic systems. Understanding these principles can transform how we view wealth, value, and resources. By examining the lives of biblical figures like Joseph and Solomon, we learn that true prosperity comes from wisdom, stewardship, and aligning with God's principles.

Scripture Reading

- Matthew 6:33 — Prioritizing the Kingdom of God ensures all needs are met.
- Deuteronomy 8:18 — Recognizing God as the source of the ability to create wealth.
- Proverbs 22:7 — Understanding the implications of debt on freedom and authority.
- Romans 12:2 — The importance of renewing the mind for transformation.
- 1 Corinthians 14:33 — God's nature is order, not confusion, in financial matters.

Key Points

1. Understanding Money as a Tool — Money is not wealth itself but a medium to facilitate the exchange of value. Recognizing this helps us focus on creating value rather than accumulating money.

...

Key Points (cont.)

1. Understanding Money as a Tool (cont.) — In the Kingdom of God, the emphasis is on how we use money to serve God's purposes and bless others. This perspective shifts our focus from mere accumulation to purposeful stewardship.
 - Reflect on how you currently use money and whether it aligns with Kingdom values.
 - Identify ways you can use money to create value and serve others.
 - Pray for wisdom to manage financial resources effectively.

Key Points (cont.)

2. Creating Value in the Kingdom — Value is the true currency in the Kingdom of God. By focusing on value creation, we attract provision and resources. This principle is evident in the lives of Joseph and Solomon, who used their God-given wisdom to create solutions and manage resources effectively. Value creation involves using our talents and abilities to meet needs and solve problems.
 - Identify your unique talents and how they can be used to create value.
 - Seek opportunities to solve problems and meet needs in your community.
 - Ask God for guidance in maximizing your potential for His glory.

Key Points (cont.)

3. God's Role in Wealth Creation — God gives us the power to generate wealth, emphasizing the importance of using our abilities and resources wisely. This principle reminds us that while we work diligently, it is ultimately God who provides the increase. Acknowledging God's role in our financial success keeps us humble and dependent on Him.

- Acknowledge God's role in your ability to create wealth.
- Pray for guidance in using your resources wisely.
- Cultivate a heart of gratitude for God's provision.

Scripture: Deuteronomy 8:18

Key Points (cont.)

4. The Dangers of Debt — Debt can erode our dominion and place our future under obligation. Reducing dependency on debt is crucial for maintaining freedom. In the Kingdom of God, financial freedom allows us to serve God without hindrance. Understanding the implications of debt helps us make wise financial decisions.

- Evaluate your current debt situation and create a plan to reduce it.
- Consider the long-term implications before taking on new debt.
- Seek counsel and wisdom in managing financial obligations.

Scripture: Proverbs 22:7

Key Points (cont.)

5. The Importance of Management — Effective management of resources is a sign of maturity and is necessary for sustaining abundance.

Without it, even great wealth can be lost. The stories of Joseph and Solomon illustrate the importance of wise management in achieving and maintaining prosperity. Good stewardship involves planning, accountability, and foresight.

- Assess how you currently manage your resources and identify areas for improvement.
- Implement a budgeting system to track income and expenses.
- Seek accountability in financial management to ensure wise stewardship.

Group Discussion

Tip: Use these questions to guide the group from seeing → understanding → applying.

Observation

- What does Matthew 6:33 teach us about priorities in the Kingdom of God?
- How does Deuteronomy 8:18 describe God's role in wealth creation?
- What are the implications of Proverbs 22:7 regarding debt?
- How does Romans 12:2 relate to transforming our mindset about wealth?

Interpretation

- Why is money considered a tool rather than true wealth in the Kingdom?
- In what ways did Joseph and Solomon exemplify value creation?
- How can recognizing God as the source of wealth change our approach to finances?
- What are the potential dangers of debt according to biblical principles?

Application

- How can you prioritize the Kingdom of God in your financial decisions?
- What steps can you take to create value in your community?
- In what ways can you acknowledge God's role in your financial life?
- What practical measures can you implement to manage resources effectively?

Prayer Focus

- Pray for wisdom to align financial practices with Kingdom principles.
- Ask for guidance in creating value and serving others with resources.
- Seek God's help in managing debt and achieving financial freedom.
- Thank God for His provision and role in wealth creation.

Next Step

Reflect on your financial habits and seek ways to align them with Kingdom values.

Conclusion

Kingdom economics teaches us that true wealth is found in value creation and wise management, not in the accumulation of money. By aligning our financial practices with God's principles, we can experience abundance and freedom. Let us learn from biblical examples and seek God's wisdom in all our financial endeavors.