

Stewardship

Covenant of Financial Fortune

At a Glance

BIG IDEA

Explore the prophetic nature of God's word and its role in empowering believers for wealth. Understand the covenant of financial fortune, which is not merely a promise but a divine agreement requiring our participation. Discover how the end-time church is destined to command supernatural wealth through obedience and the practice of giving and receiving.

PRIMARY PASSAGES

Deuteronomy 8:18

Philippians 4:15

Luke 6:38

Malachi 3:17-18

Genesis 1:31

Key Takeaways

- God's word is prophetic and creates its content.
- The end-time church is ordained to command supernatural wealth.
- Empowerment for wealth is a covenant, not a promise.
- Engagement with the law of giving and receiving is essential.
- Obedience to God's principles is crucial for financial fortune.

Introduction

The concept of financial fortune in the Bible is deeply rooted in the covenant relationship between God and His people. This covenant is not just a promise but a divine agreement that requires our active participation. By understanding and engaging with God's principles of giving and receiving, believers can access the supernatural wealth ordained for the end-time church.

Scripture Reading

- Deuteronomy 8:18 — Highlights God's empowerment for wealth as a covenant.
- Philippians 4:15 — Illustrates the principle of giving and receiving.
- Luke 6:38 — Describes the law of seed time and harvest.
- Malachi 3:17-18 — God's promise to distinguish those who serve Him.
- Genesis 1:31 — Shows the creative power of God's prophetic word.

Key Points

1. Prophetic Power of God's Word — God's word is not just informative but creative, bringing into existence what it declares. This prophetic nature is foundational for understanding His promises. From the beginning, God's word has had the power to create and ...

Key Points (cont.)

1. Prophetic Power of God's Word (cont.) — transform. This creative power is evident in the account of creation, where God spoke the world into existence. Believers are called to trust in the prophetic nature of God's word, which assures them of His promises, including financial fortune.

- Meditate on the creative power of God's word in your life.
- Trust in the prophetic declarations of Scripture.
- Speak God's promises over your financial situation.

Scripture: Genesis 1:31

2. End-Time Church and Wealth — The church in the end times is destined to wield supernatural wealth, as part of God's plan to distinguish His people. This wealth is not for personal gain but for advancing God's kingdom on earth. The distinction comes from living according to God's principles and being a light to the nations. As believers, understanding this destiny helps align our financial goals with God's purposes.

- Align your financial goals with God's kingdom purposes.
- Seek to be a steward of God's resources.
- Pray for wisdom to manage wealth for God's glory.

Scripture: Malachi 3:17-18

Key Points (cont.)

3. Covenant of Wealth — Wealth empowerment is a covenant that requires understanding and adherence to God's principles, rather than a mere promise. This covenant involves a relationship where God provides the ability to produce wealth, and believers respond with obedience and faithfulness. Recognizing this covenant helps believers approach their finances with a sense of responsibility and trust in God's provision.
- Study the principles of God's covenant regarding wealth.
 - Commit to obeying God's financial principles.
 - Trust in God's provision as part of His covenant.

Scripture: Deuteronomy 8:18

Key Points (cont.)

4. Principle of Giving and Receiving — Active participation in giving and receiving is crucial for accessing financial fortune, as outlined in the scriptures. This principle is based on the law of seed time and harvest, where giving leads to receiving. Believers are encouraged to give generously, knowing that God rewards such faithfulness. Understanding this principle helps believers cultivate a lifestyle of generosity and trust in God's provision.

- Practice regular and generous giving.
- Reflect on the blessings received through giving.
- Encourage others to participate in the cycle of giving and receiving.

Scripture: Philippians 4:15 Luke 6:38

Group Discussion

Tip: Use these questions to guide the group from seeing → understanding → applying.

Observation

- What does Deuteronomy 8:18 reveal about God's role in our financial empowerment?
- How does Philippians 4:15 illustrate the principle of giving and receiving?
- What is the significance of God's promise in Malachi 3:17-18?

Interpretation

- How does the prophetic nature of God's word impact our understanding of His promises?
- In what ways is the end-time church expected to handle wealth differently from the world?
- Why is the covenant of wealth more than just a promise?

Application

- How can you actively engage with the principle of giving and receiving in your life?
- What steps can you take to align your financial goals with God's kingdom purposes?

Application (cont.)

- How can you cultivate a lifestyle of generosity based on the principles discussed?

Prayer Focus

- Pray for wisdom to understand and engage with God's covenant of wealth.
- Ask for a generous heart to practice the principle of giving and receiving.
- Seek guidance to align financial goals with God's kingdom purposes.
- Pray for faith to trust in the prophetic nature of God's word for financial empowerment.

Next Step

Reflect on your current financial practices and identify ways to align them with God's principles of giving and receiving.

Conclusion

The covenant of financial fortune is a profound aspect of the believer's relationship with God. By understanding and engaging with the principles of giving and receiving, believers can access the supernatural wealth ordained for the end-time church. This covenant requires active participation and obedience, aligning our financial practices with God's kingdom purposes.